What your customers should know about indoor tanning

AVOID UNNECESSARY EXPOSURE

- Repeated exposure to indoor tanning devices may cause skin cancer and premature aging of the skin. As with natural sunlight, overexposure to ultraviolet light can cause burns, eye and skin injury, and allergic reactions. Persons with a family history or past medical history of skin cancer should avoid the use of a tanning device.

ULTRAVIOLET RADIATION SENSITIVITY

- Abnormal skin sensitivity or burning may be caused by reactions of ultraviolet light to certain cosmetics, foods or medications (including, but not limited to tranquilizers, diuretics, antibiotics, high blood pressure medicines or birth control pills). Persons taking a prescription or over-the-counter drug should consult a physician before using a tanning device. Persons with skin that burns easily in the sun or does not tan in the sun should avoid the use of a tanning device.

PROTECTIVE EYE WEAR

- Failure to use protective eyewear may result in severe burns or long-term injury to the eye.

Action Required

You are required to obtain parental permission for customers between the ages of 14 and 18 years. If you violate, neglect or fail to comply with these requirements or orders of the Delaware Department of Health and Social Services, you shall be fined not less than $100.00 and not more than $1,000.00.
